Jabra®

Product: Jabra QD supervisor cable
Subject: New and improved Jabra Supervisor cable now available
Date: 26th April 2016

Jabra are pleased to announce the launch and availability of a new and improved supervisor cable for use with Jabra Quick Disconnect (QD) headsets.

Supervisor cables, or 'Y cords' fit in between the headset cable and the telephone connection cable (or USB adapter), to allow two headsets to fit to one phone for training or conferencing purposes.

The new improved cable features a mute button on one side of the supervisor cable to allow the supervisor to mute and un-mute their microphone as and when they need to. This means greater flexibility for the call compared to the previous supervisor cable options (both microphones permanently live or one microphone permanently muted). As such the two current supervisor cables will no longer be manufactured, and will be replaced with this one new, improved version. The end of manufacturing date for the current variants is 30th June 2016.
